

Md. Rifat Bin Ahmed Majumdar

Structural & Design Engineer

Seeking a career that is challenging and interesting, and lets me work on the leading areas of technology, a job that gives me opportunities to learn, innovate and enhance my skills and strengths in conjunction with company goals and objectives.

Every job should do this. Either re-write so it's more specific/tailored to a job or remove.

First Impressions: Don't use color, chances are your resume will be printed in black and white once submitted. You are applying for an engineering job not architect or graphic design :) No need to include a picture, if you have a linked-in account an employer can see your photo there. I recommend looking at ASCE's example resumes for a basic outline.

Your text is big and there is a lot of white space, so you have room to add more information. Can you elaborate on your personal projects and experiences more? You want your resume to tell a story about your education and work background.

Consider trading positions with your education section if you keep the two column approach.
Work and Education are the most important sections so they should be at the top.

The use of two columns is a-typical, but not necessarily bad.
