

CANstruction Contest

AEI is coordinating a CANstruction competition that will take place between the student chapters in an effort to connect the schools through competition as well benefit each of the communities involved. We are asking for each student chapter to participate in this event and work to collect donations to benefit their local food pantries. The donations will also serve as the building blocks for the competition as the schools work to create a structure that will be judged and shared with the other chapters.

The competition will take place from mid-October to the week before Thanksgiving. We hope to not only encourage competition between schools, but to also try and benefit everyone's local food pantry.

Winners:

All submitted CANstruction structures will be posted on Instagram for schools to view each other's work. The structures will then be judged by the NSO's and announced the week after Thanksgiving. The winner will have their final submission picture featured in the 2016-17 AEI Snapshot and on the AEI website.

Criteria and Guidelines:

Items to Include- To participate in this event please contact your local food pantry to determine what is currently needed. We really want to benefit the community and so we ask that as part of your registration you send in this sheet and as part of your final submission you mark which items you collected based off of the sheet.

Judging Criteria- The judging of the CANstruction structures will be based off of the creativity and aesthetics of the structure created, whether or not the food pantries suggestions were followed for food collected, and ability to create and follow through with a theme for the structure.

Rules for Collection – You are welcome to solicit donations from non-members and are encouraged to collect as many cans as possible.

Final Submission:

Should include:

- List of food pantry items and numbers collected
- Theme of the structure
- Uploaded final photo of structure on Instagram with AEI_Students tagged
